The college has always strived to enable all those entrusted to its care to fulfil their potential in a stimulating and supportive environment, where excellence in teaching and learning is a carefully fostered objective.

The commitment to quality teaching and learning, highly effective leadership and management structures and the very positive student experience has been recognised by the Department of Education and Skills in the reports conducted by the Inspectorate in the school, available on www.education.ie.

I invite you to consider the quality education service which McEgan College provides by reading this prospectus and to visit our college. I look forward to meeting you in the near future.
